1. RISK FACTORS

The information in this section is as of this Securities Note.

All investments in interest-bearing securities are associated with risks. The risks are related to the general volatility in the market for such securities, varying liquidity in a single bond issue, as well as Issuer specific risk factors. An investment in interest-bearing securities is only suitable for investors who understand the risk factors associated with this type of investments and who can afford a loss of all, or part of the investment. Please refer to the Registration Document dated 17 August 2026 for a listing of Issuer specific risk factors.

For the definitions of capitalised terms used throughout this Securities Note, see Section 5 "Definitions".

RISKS RELATED TO THE BONDS

Risks related to the market and potential market value of the Bonds

The Bonds are new securities for which there is currently no trading market. A market where Bondholders are able to sell their Bonds at attractive prices may not develop. If such a market was to exist, the Bonds could trade at prices that may be lower than the nominal amount or purchase price of the Bonds. If an active market does not develop or is not maintained, the price and liquidity of the Bonds may be adversely affected.

There is a risk that the value of the Bonds may decrease due to the changes in the Group, its financial position as well as relevant market risk factors. Furthermore, the price and market value of a single bond issue will, generally, fluctuate due to general developments in the financial markets, as well as, specifically, investor interest in (and, thus, the liquidity of) the Bonds and the aquaculture market in which the Group is engaged. In addition, in recent years, the global financial markets have experienced significant price and volume fluctuations, which, if repeated in the future, could adversely affect the market value of the Bonds without regard to the Issuer's operating results, financial condition or prospects. Accordingly, there is a risk that the value of the Bonds may decrease in spite of an underlying positive development in the Issuer's business activities.

The Bonds are unsecured, affecting payment of the Bonds in the event of bankruptcy and otherwise

The Bonds are unsecured. As senior debt obligations, they rank at least pari passu with all other obligations of the Issuer, except for claims preferred by bankruptcy, insolvency, liquidation, or other similar laws. Rights to receive payment on the Bonds in a default situation will therefore be subject to the Issuer's secured lenders first receiving due payment. Accordingly, in the event that any of the Group's subsidiaries becomes subject to any foreclosure, dissolution, winding-up, liquidation, recapitalisation, administrative or other bankruptcy or insolvency proceeding, the Bondholders will have no right to proceed against the assets of any such subsidiary, and creditors of the Group's subsidiaries, including financial indebtedness and trade creditors, will generally be entitled to payment in full from the sale or other disposal of the assets of such subsidiary before the Company, as a direct or indirect shareholder, will be entitled to receive any distributions from such subsidiary. Being unsecured, the Bonds carry a higher risk compared to secured bonds since secured bonds have preferred recovery from secured assets.

The Bonds are structurally subordinated to the liabilities of the Issuer's subsidiaries

The Bonds will be structurally subordinated to the liabilities of the Issuer's subsidiaries. This means that creditors of the Issuer's subsidiaries, will be entitled to payments of their claims from the assets of such subsidiaries before these assets (or proceeds thereof) are made available for distribution to the Issuer, as a direct or indirect shareholder. In an enforcement scenario, creditors of the Issuer's subsidiaries, to the extent such subsidiaries are not also guarantors of the Bonds, will generally be entitled to payment in full from the sale or other disposal of the assets of such subsidiaries before the Issuer, as a direct or indirect shareholder, will be entitled to receive any distributions.

Risk related to the Issuer's service and repayment of the Bonds

During the lifetime of the Bonds, the Company may be required to make payments on the Bonds. The Company's ability to generate cash flow from operations and to make payments on and to repay the Bonds, will depend on the future financial performance of the Group. In addition, the Company's ability to pay amounts due on the Bonds may depend on the financial performance of its subsidiaries and upon the level of distributions, interest payments and loan repayments, if any, received from its subsidiaries, any amounts received on disposals of assets and equity holdings and the level of cash balances. Certain of the Group's operating subsidiaries may be subject to restrictions on their ability to make distributions and loans including as a result of restrictive covenants in loan agreements, foreign exchange and other regulatory restrictions and laws and agreements with other shareholders of such subsidiaries (if applicable) or associated undertakings.

The Issuer must ensure that the Group maintains an Equity Ratio of at least 30% on a consolidated basis, calculated and tested at the end of each financial quarter. If the Company is unable to generate sufficient cash flow from operations or through distributions from its subsidiaries in the future to service its debt, it will be forced to adopt an alternative strategy that may include actions such as reducing or delaying capital expenditures, selling assets, restructuring or refinancing indebtedness or seeking equity capital and the Company may fail in executing such strategies and thus enable itself to service or repay the Bonds. In case of a bankruptcy, the Bondholders risk losing their entire investment, and settlement of any potential dividend will not take place until the bankruptcy proceedings have been completed, and Bondholders are not entitled to take enforcement action or instigate insolvency procedures against the Issuer other than through the Bond Trustee and in accordance with the Bond Terms.

Risk related to the interest rate

The Bonds have a floating interest rate based on a reference rate plus a margin, which is subject to adjustment in accordance with the Bond Terms. The primary price risk for a floating rate bond issue will be related to the market view of the correct trading level for the credit spread related to the bond issue at a certain time during the tenor, compared with the credit margin the bond issue is carrying. A possible increase in the credit spread trading level relative to the coupon defined credit margin may relate to general changes in the market conditions and/or Company specific circumstances. However, under normal market circumstances the anticipated tradable credit spread will fall as the duration of the bond issue becomes shorter. In general, the price of bonds will fall when the credit spread in the market increases, and conversely the bond price will increase when the market spread decreases.

The Bonds may be redeemed early due to a tax event

Under the Bond Terms, the Issuer has the right to redeem the outstanding Bonds before the final redemption date if the Issuer is required by law to withhold any tax from any payment in respect of the Bonds. This right is triggered if the Issuer is required to gross up any withheld tax imposed by law due to a change in applicable law implemented after the date of the Bond Terms. In such event, the Issuer has the right to redeem all, but not only some, of the outstanding Bonds. The redemption price in such an event is equal to 100 percent of the Nominal Amount. If the Bonds are redeemed before the final redemption date, the Issuer is required to pay the Bondholders an early redemption amount which equals to 100 per cent. of the nominal amount outstanding under the Bond Terms. However, there is a risk that the market value of the Bonds will be higher than the nominal amount outstanding and that it may not be possible for Bondholders to reinvest the early redemption amount at an effective interest rate as high as the then prevailing market rate for comparable bonds and a bondholder may realize a lower return on its investment than if the Bonds had been outstanding through maturity.

Risks related to prepayment and repurchase events

The Bond Terms provides for certain redemption and repurchase mechanics in respect of the Bonds which entail redemption or repurchase with a premium, either voluntarily or mandatorily. The latter will be the case inter alia upon the occurrence of a Put Option / Change of Control Event (as described in the Bond Terms), whereby each individual Bondholder has a right to require that the Issuer purchases all or some of the Bonds at 101% of the nominal amount during a period of 15 Business Days following the notice of a Put Option Event. If Bonds representing more than 90% of the Outstanding Bonds have been repurchased, the Issuer is entitled to repurchase all the remaining Outstanding Bonds at the same price by notifying the remaining Bondholders no later than 10 Business Days after the Put Option Repayment Date. The Issuer may not have sufficient funds at the time of such event to make the required redemption and/or repurchase of the Bonds, should a mandatory redemption or repurchase occur, which may consequently adversely affect all Bondholders and not only those that choose to exercise the option.

Bondholders may be overruled by majority votes taken in Bondholder's meetings

The Bond Terms will include certain provisions regarding Bondholders' meetings and written procedures. Such meetings and procedures may be used to reach decisions on matters relating to the Bondholders' interests. The Bond Terms allows for stated majorities to bind all Bondholders, including Bondholders who have not taken part in the meeting or procedure and those who have voted against the majority. Resolutions passed at a Bondholders' Meeting are binding on all Bondholders, including those who did not participate or voted against the majority, provided that the quorum requirements are met and the resolution is passed by the requisite majority. Consequently, there is a risk that the actions of the majority in such matters will impact a Bondholder's rights in a manner that is unwanted for it. A Bondholders' Meeting can resolve to alter any Bond Terms, including reducing principal or interest, and converting Bonds into other capital classes, which may affect individual Bondholders adversely.

Individual Bondholders do not have a right of action against the Issuer

In accordance with the Bonds Terms, the trustee for the Bonds represents all Bondholders in all matters relating to the Bonds and the Bondholders are prevented from taking actions on their own against the Issuer. Consequently, individual Bondholders do not have the right to take legal actions to declare any default by claiming any payment from the Issuer and may therefore lack effective remedies unless and until a requisite majority of the Bondholders agree to take such action. Bondholders are not entitled to take any enforcement action, instigate any insolvency procedures, or take any other legal action against the Issuer or any other party in relation to any of the liabilities of the Issuer or any other party under or in connection with the Finance Documents, other than through the Bond Trustee and in accordance with the Bond Terms. However, there is a risk that an individual Bondholder, in certain situations, could bring its own action against the Issuer (in breach of the Bond Terms), which could negatively impact an acceleration of the Bonds or other action against the Issuer.

Upon request of the Bond Trustee, each Bondholder must immediately provide the Bond Trustee with any necessary documents, including a written power of attorney in the form and substance satisfactory to the Bond Trustee, to enable the trustee for the Bonds to represent Bondholders in court, the Bondholders and/or their nominees may have to submit a written power of attorney for legal proceedings. The failure of all Bondholders to submit such a power of attorney could have a negative effect on the legal proceedings as for instance the requisite quorum or majority for taking such legal proceedings may not be obtained. Under the Bond Terms, the trustee for the Bonds will in some cases have the right to make decisions and take measures that bind all Bondholders. Consequently, there is a risk that the actions of the trustee in such matters will impact a Bondholder's rights under the Bonds in a manner that is undesirable for some of the Bondholders.

There is a risk that materialisation of any of the above risks will have a material adverse effect on the enforcement of the rights of the Bondholders and the rights of the Bondholders to receive payments under the Bonds.

The bonds may be subject to purchase and transfer restriction

While the Bonds are freely transferable and may be pledged, any bondholder may be subject to purchase or transfer restrictions under local laws, depending on factors such as nationality, residency, registered address, or place(s) of business. These restrictions include, but are not limited to, specific transfer restrictions for bondholders located in the United Kingdom and the United States. The Bonds have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or any U.S. state securities laws. Subject to certain exemptions, a holder of the Bonds may not offer or sell the Bonds in or into the United States. The Issuer has not undertaken to register the Bonds under the U.S. Securities Act, any U.S. state securities laws, or to effect any exchange offer for the Bonds in the future. As a result, the Bonds may only be transferred or resold in a transaction registered under or exempt from the registration requirements of such legislation. Consequently, investors may not be able to sell their Bonds at their preferred time or price.

The future liquidity of the Bonds is uncertain, and investors bear the financial risk of their investment in the Bonds. Each bondholder must ensure compliance with applicable local laws and regulations at their own cost and expense. Due to these restrictions, there is a risk that a bondholder cannot sell its Bonds as desired, which could have a negative effect for some bondholders.

4. NORWEGIAN TAXATION

This Section describes certain tax rules in Norway applicable to bondholders who are resident in Norway for tax purposes ("Norwegian Bondholders") and bondholders who are not resident in Norway for tax purposes ("Foreign Bondholders"). For Foreign Bondholders, both the tax legislation of the Foreign Bondholder's country of residence and Norwegian tax legislation may impact the income received from the Bonds.

The statements herein regarding taxation are based on the laws in force in Norway as of the date of this Securities Note (as part of the Prospectus) and are subject to any changes in law occurring after such date. Such changes could be made on a retrospective basis. See Section 1 ("RISK FACTORS") above regarding the risk of the Bonds being categorised as an equity rather than a debt instrument. The following summary does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all the tax considerations that may be relevant to a decision to purchase, own or dispose of the Bonds. Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors concerning the overall tax consequences of their ownership of Bonds. The statements only apply to bondholders who are beneficial owners of Bonds. Please note that for the purpose of the summary below, references to Norwegian Bondholders or Foreign Bondholders refer to the tax residency rather than the nationality of the shareholder/bondholder.

4.1 Norwegian Bondholders

Taxation of interest

Assuming that the Bonds are characterised as a debt instrument for tax purposes, interest received on the Bonds is taxable as "ordinary income" subject to the flat rate of 22%. For Norwegian Bondholders that are considered financial institutions subject to Norwegian financial tax (banks, insurance companies, certain holding companies etc.), the ordinary income tax rate is 25%. For Norwegian taxpayers, interest received on the Bonds is normally taxed on an accrual basis (i.e. regardless of when the return is actually paid).

Taxation of capital gains

The sale, disposal or redemption of the Bonds is treated as a realisation and may result in a capital gain or loss. Capital gains will be taxable as "ordinary income", subject to the flat rate of 22% (25% for financial institutions). Losses will normally be deductible in the bondholder's "ordinary income" at the same rates.

Any capital gain or loss is computed as the difference between the amount received by the bondholder on realisation and the cost price of the Bonds. The cost price is equal to the price for which the bondholder acquired the Bonds. In addition, costs incurred in connection with the acquisition of the Bonds may be added to the cost price of the Bonds, thereby reducing any taxable capital gain or increasing any deductible capital loss upon realisation.

Net wealth taxation

The value of Bonds at the end of each income year will be included in the computation of a bondholder's taxable net wealth for municipal and state net wealth tax purposes. Listed Bonds are valued at their quoted value on 1 January in the relevant assessment year. Net wealth exceeding a threshold of NOK 1,760,000 is taxed at a marginal rate of 1.0%, and net wealth exceeding a threshold of NOK 20,700,000 is taxed at a marginal rate of 1.1%.

Limited companies and certain similar entities are not subject to net wealth taxation.

Transfer taxes etc. — VAT

No transfer taxes, stamp duties or similar taxes are imposed in Norway on purchase, disposal or redemption of Bonds. Furthermore, there is no VAT on transfer of Bonds.

4.2 Foreign Bondholders

Taxation of interest

Interest paid to Foreign Bondholders, who have no connection with Norway other than the holding of such Bonds, will not be subject to Norwegian income tax. The same applies to any payment of principal.

If the holding of the Bonds is effectively connected with business carried out in Norway by the holder of the Bonds, the holder may be subject to taxation in Norway. However, such tax liability may be limited by an applicable tax treaty.

Norway levies a withholding tax at a rate of 15% on interest payments from a Norwegian debtor to (i) a related party (ii) resident in low-tax jurisdictions. Two parties are "related" if there is at least 50% direct or indirect ownership or control between them during the income year. A "low-tax jurisdiction" is a jurisdiction where the effective foreign income taxation is less than two-thirds of the tax that would have been due had the foreign company been resident in Norway. However, the withholding tax rate may be limited by an applicable tax treaty. In any case, withholding tax is not imposed on Foreign Bondholders genuinely established and conducting genuine economic activity in an EEA country.

Taxation of capital gains

Capital gain on profits realised on the sale, disposal or redemption of the Bonds by a Foreign Bondholder are not subject to taxes or duties in Norway.

If the Foreign Bondholder is holding the Bonds in connection with business activities carried out or managed from Norway, the Foreign Bondholder may be subject to taxation in Norway. However, such tax liability may be limited according to an applicable tax treaty.

Net wealth taxation
